The screenshot displays the CCH iKnow website interface, titled "CCH iKnow: the best tax information resource for New Zealand". A search bar at the top contains the text "small business gst concessions" and a search icon. Below the search bar, the interface is organized into several sections:

- Trending topics: A list of topics including Bright-line test, Entertainment, Foreign trusts, Fringe benefit tax (FBT), Legal expenses, Depreciation, Foreign investment funds, Look-through companies, PIE regime, and Repairs and maintenance. A callout bubble labeled "Trending topics at a glance" points to this section.
- Practice areas: A grid of categories including Agri-industry, Business, Companies, Employment & HR, GST, Income tax, Trusts, and Workplace health & safety.
- Trending tasks: A list of tasks including Annual accounts - preparing, FBT - preparing FBT return, Income tax - calculating, and Provisional tax - managing payments. A callout bubble labeled "Wide range of task pages" points to this section.
- Latest news: A section for recent updates, including "11 July 2017: Land Transfer Act enacted" and "9 July 2017: Determination CRS 2017/201 released by Inland Revenue".
- CCH Learning: A section providing easy and cost-effective access to information and professional development solutions. A callout bubble labeled "Direct access to relevant CCH Learning topics" points to this section.
- CCH Q&A Service: An online service that provides quick answers to tricky, complex or nagging questions in the areas of tax, company, employment, property and business law. A callout bubble labeled "Direct link to CCH Q&A Service" points to this section.
- CCH Companies & iTrust: A section for cloud-based software that simplifies the creation and management of companies and trusts while reducing costs. A callout bubble labeled "Direct link to CCH iTrust and CCH Companies" points to this section.

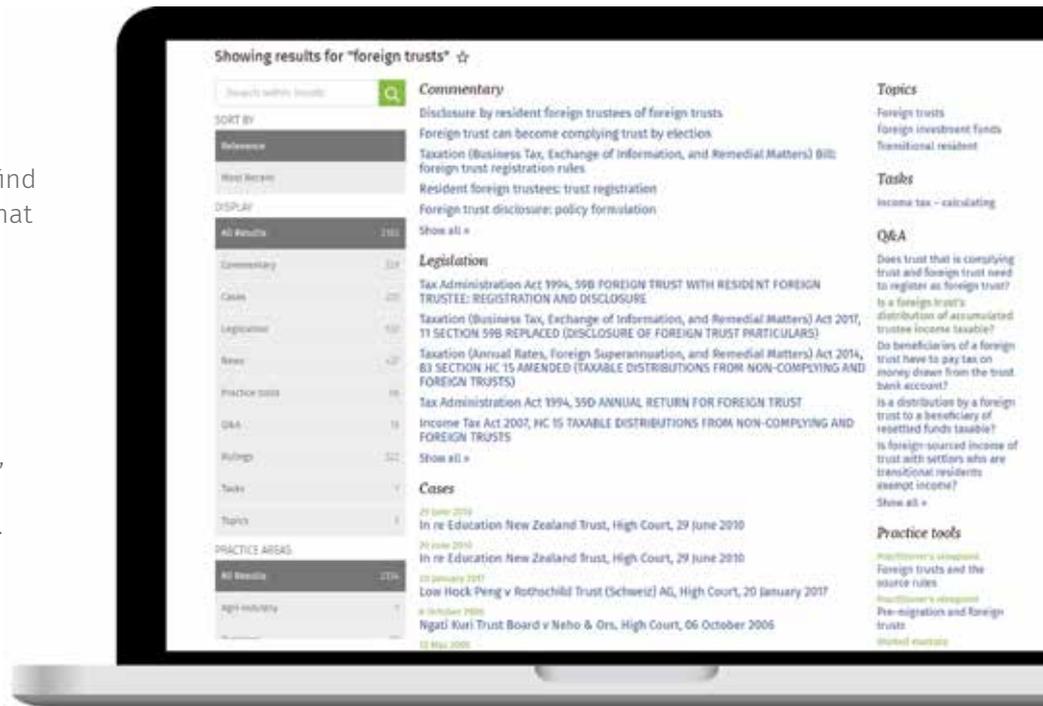

Key Features

Powerful search

The powerful search function makes it easier and faster to find and share the exact content that you are looking for.

Well organised results are instantly sorted into Commentary, Legislation and Cases as well as displaying associated Topics, Tasks, Q&A, Practice Tools and News - all clearly displayed on one page.

Topic pages

Topic pages are editorially curated to give you everything you need on a particular topic area in the one place, reducing the time you spend searching for answers. Each topic page includes the relevant rates, source material, commentary, practical tools and related items on the issues you are dealing with on a daily basis.

Commentary

Interpret complicated legislation and rulings quickly with the CCH commentary you know and trust. Flexible commentary packages mean you only subscribe to the level of detail required by your firm.

Source material

Access the latest legislation, rulings, cases and judgments that you need to ensure you and your clients are complying with current requirements from government regulators and Inland Revenue.

Task pages

Use task pages when you're on a mission to do something and need practical tools and guidance to get the job done right. Clear procedures step you through the task and enable consistent job handling.

Practice tools include clever calculators, workpapers, checklists, forms and so much more.

Liaise with your clients with easy-to-use letter templates, scripts and informative FAQs which can be quickly shared with clients or your team.

News and alerts

Stay up to date with the news that affects you and your clients as it happens, such as government announcements, legislation and cases.

Use the alerts feature to ensure you never miss any of the essential updates to your favourite topic pages. The alerts are emailed straight to your inbox with links to the new content and practice tools.

Packages to suit your firm

In creating CCH iKnow, we've been mindful that no two accountancy firms are the same, so if you are a specialist accountancy firm, a sole practitioner or one dealing with a broad range of compliance and business advisory, it's easy to build a subscription package that suits your business focus and budget. Flexible pricing packages and modules mean you will only pay for the level of content you need.
